

COVER terrace glazing

Extend your lounge into your yard and enjoy the surrounding landscape and fresh air from the comfort of your sofa. The vertical frameless COVER terrace glazing system adds additional space to your home and new ways for you to use your terrace. You can enjoy your terrace all year round, as the glazing protects against the cold autumn wind and winter snow.

COVER terrace glazing is suitable for terraces of almost any shape, and can be customised to suit each space. A recessed lower profile removes high thresholds for easy access to the terrace.

Benefits of the COVER terrace glazing system

- provides protection against rain, wind, snow, dust and dirt
- reduces noise from outside
- increases the use of the space
- improves the look of the facade
- increases security
- reduce maintenance

The COVER terrace glazing system is a frameless glazing system featuring tempered safety glass 8-10mm thick, depending on the requirements of the site. The system's horizontal wheels mean that the COVER terrace glazing can be installed on straight, angular and curved terraces, and make the panels of glass light and easy to move. The glazing can be opened fully or partially, including across corners.

The rigidity and strength of the aluminium profiles in the COVER system guarantee a high-quality user experience, even in the most challenging environments. Profiles can be powder-coated in the colour of your choice, and various patterns are also available.

Different lock options make access easier and increase security. Locks are chosen based on the site's requirements and customer's wishes.

Technical specifications:

- The profiles are made from the aluminium alloy EN AW 6060.
- The glass is tempered safety glass with a thickness of 8-10mm, depending on the height and requirements of the site.
- The glazing is attached to the aluminium profiles with glue and rivets.
- Top-hanging glazing system.
- The Cover terrace glazing system has been awarded European technical approval, which entitles it to use the CE marking.

Warranty

COVER products come with a 5-year factory warranty that covers any material defects observed after delivery.
